1. Talk about an especially powerful, memorable, or notable experience of unity with others.
2. Look again at the three Scripture passages which Pastor Nicoletti chose for the sermon. What are some common threads among them? How does each relate to the doctrine of the Trinity?
3. In the sermon, Pastor Nicoletti argued that creation generally reflects the unity and diversity which are ultimately rooted in the Trinity. Where do you see examples of this? What are the limitations of looking to creation for analogies of the Trinity?
4. In the sermon, Pastor Nicoletti expanded on Bavinck’s claim that “the image of God is much too rich for it to be fully realized in a single human being.” As you think about the diversity of humanity, what stands out?
